2013 has been a fantastic year for Brodhead TU! This past year we have been busy with many projects and events. Our members assisted the veterans who participate in Project Healing Waters. The veterans had trips to Lackawanna State Park, Arrowhead Lakes, and two on-stream sessions at Indian Mountain Rod and Gun Club, to name a few spots where they fished. We have been having a good turnout of volunteers from our chapter to assist with this program. I want to thank all who have been coming. This is not only a great time with the veterans, but a chance to meet people from the Stanley Cooper and other chapters to share fellowship.

We staffed and instructed the Monroe County Environmental Education Center's Fly Fishing Seminar in March. Chapter volunteers tied flies to be raffled, and taught all the sections of the program. Will Daskal provided an introduction to entomology. Several members gave the people the opportunity to try casting in the parking lot.

The next month, we discovered that Carl Meyer retired from the conservation district. We wish to thank him for all the support he has given to our programs. I worked with him each summer at conservation camps, demonstrating fly fishing as the Thursday afternoon program. Carl and I always coached the campers through their first attempts at casting a fly line. It was very strange not to have Carl with us when we were at camp this past summer. Carl you will be missed!

We changed the weekday and site for our annual banquet this past year. The members and guests had many positive comments about the venue and the buffet style of serving. We also received some excellent critiques on the raffle format and ticket sales. This year, we will be using a new raffle prize ticket format, which we are adopting due to requirements of the small games of chance license regulations.

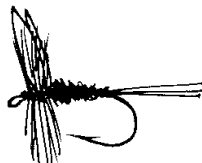

The annual Opening Day Knights of Columbus, Stroud Township, Brodhead Trout Unlimited and Fish Commission Kids Fishing Tournament was well attended by youth fisherman, parents and volunteers. It was as usual a great success. Once again, Will Daskal did a live painting demonstration, and the painting was raffled off to one of the attending parents, with all the proceeds donated to the Chapter by Will. In the past two years alone, that donation has exceeded $300! As always, Alex and JoAnn Zidock were on hand to record the event for TV broadcast on their weekly BRCTV show, Out in the Open.

We sent two youth to the Rivers Conservation School at Allenberry Resort in Boiling Springs Pa., Katy Stanovic and Cole Bernier. Cole received the highest award given to a camper at the school. Both Cole and Katy helped teach the conservation campers in July. We are extremely proud of their outstanding achievements.

Last spring, we worked with Tobyhanna Conservation Association to plant trees near the new bridge on PA State Route 423 to protect the Tobyhanna creek providing shade and bank stabilization. A local Boy Scout Troop also joined in with the planting.

Once again, Will organized a very successful trip to the Catskill streams in May, with the entire group enjoying three days of good fishing. Don Baylor arranged a very successful trip to Colorado with a small group of TU members. He then put a slide show for the October meeting.

John Smith and Will Daskal attended the TU Northeast Regional meeting in Windham N.Y. during July. They came back with a lot of energy to improve the chapter. Will just authored our Chapter Strategic Action Plan, which we will be posting on the website in the spring. It should be posted by February; so, please be sure to read it so you can comment on it prior to our ratification vote later this spring!

PATU honored our chapter at the all PATU Fall Conference in September giving us the Award for Best TU Chapter Newsletter! The editor of our newsletter, Streamside Asides, is Will Daskal, and he has been doing a fantastic job taking it from print media to an electronic format for the web.

We received an Embrace a Stream Grant through the herculean efforts of Don Baylor and Don Miller. We will be placing educational signs in the Paradise and Cranberry Creek watersheds to encourage releasing of wild brook trout. They have been working with various township officials to encourage catch and release regulations wherever possible.

We coordinated with Rep. Rosemary Brown's Office, the Pike-Wayne Chapter of TU and the PA Fish and Boat Commission to conduct a Peck's Pond Clean-up, with full newspaper coverage by the Pocono Record.

We also cooperated with Brodhead Watershed for another McMichael Sojourn in the fall. Next year, we will be working in cooperation with BWA on the McMichael just downstream of the bridge on Manor Drive behind the soccer fields. Eric Baird is already working this plan. We have been out to the site to work on preliminary planning and taking pictures to accompany permit applications.

In March, we will be having a general membership meeting at East Stroudsburg University, featuring renowned fly-fishing expert Aaron Jasper as our guest speaker. This will be the first time we are having a March general meeting in addition to the annual March Banquet. The meeting is being held on campus at ESU to encourage a college-level student club which we hope will evolve into a college TU chapter associated with our Brodhead Chapter. This will hopefully encourage students to work with us on projects, as well as to join our chapter as student members.

Don Baylor and Don Miller are working on the initial planning for stream improvements on the new sections of the Brodhead that will soon become available to fisherman. They are trying to encourage special regulations in the area. One landowner, who is permitting access, would like to allow catch and release only. This area was recently purchased with a building that will have parking for access. The building will become the new BWA headquarters and house a local fly fishing museum.

There will be committees arranged to support these projects with plenty of room for members to help with the many projects. Board members will each chair committees, and we will need members to help out in many capacities.

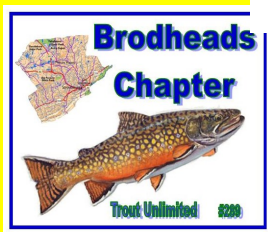

2014 will be a year of many changes with great possibilities for you to become more involved. Please speak to any board member or officer to join in in upcoming projects and events.

On behalf of the Officers and Directors of your Executive Committee and Board of Directors, I'd like to wish all of you a very Happy Holiday Season and a Joyous and HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Tight lines!

KEYSTONE
COLDWATER
CONFERENCE

Coldwater Resources:
Current Practices in Conservation, Protection, and Restoration

2014 Keystone Coldwater Conference

The 2014 Keystone Coldwater Conference will be held at the Ramada Inn Conference Center in State College on February 21 & 22. See www.coldwaterheritage.org/keystone-coldwater-conference for the preliminary agenda and other information and check back later as further details become available

The conference theme is "Coldwater Resources: Current Practices in Conservation, Protection, and Restoration." The target audience is generally grassroots members from nonprofit organizations such as Trout Unlimited chapters, sportsmen's groups, and watershed associations, along with environmental professionals from conservation districts, agencies, and consulting firms. We welcome college and university students and faculty as presenters and poster exhibitors.

A primary goal of the conference is to promote the sharing of ideas between these diverse groups that have common interests. We want to hear about successful projects, effective monitoring and assessment efforts, research projects, lessons learned, and best management practices. Presentations should highlight research, case studies, proactive community action, policy and regulations, or targeted outreach and advocacy that have played a part in ensuring environmental protection. Please contact Samantha Kutskel at 814-359-5233 or skutskel@coldwaterheritage.org if you have any questions.

Register

Fee

The fees are below. Conference registration covers all instruction, program materials, the Friday evening reception, and Saturday's refreshment break and lunch. The optional workshop is Friday afternoon from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. Registrants are responsible for all other meals and lodging.

- $30 – Friday workshop ONLY
- $60 – Early conference registration (includes lunch) on or before January 31
- $75 – Early two-day registration (includes Friday workshop, conference registration, and lunch) on or before January 31
- $80 – Regular conference registration (includes lunch) after January 31
- $110 – Two-day registration (includes Friday workshop, conference registration, and lunch) after January 31

How to Register

You can register online or by mailing the printable registration form (with a check, money order, purchase order, or letter of authorization from your employer or sponsoring organization). Credit card payment can be accepted only with online registration.

Deadline

All registrations must be received by 5:00 p.m. EST on Monday, February 17, 2014. After this date, please call the conference planner at 814-863-5100 for information about on-site check-in; if space permits, you can register for an additional $30.

Confirmation

Penn State Conferences will confirm your registration by email. If you do not provide an email address, you will receive confirmation by postal mail. You will be alerted promptly of any cancellations or changes. If some unforeseen event forces Penn State to cancel or postpone the program, you will receive a full refund of your registration fee; however, the University cannot be held responsible for any related costs, including cancellation fees assessed by airlines or travel agencies.

Refunds

If your request to withdraw is received at least 15 business days prior to the first day of the conference, we can issue a partial refund. Send your written request by fax to 814-863-5190 or by email to conferences@outreach.psu.edu. A $50 administrative fee will be charged for each withdrawal. Anyone who is registered but cannot attend may send a substitute.

Access

Penn State encourages persons with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities. If you anticipate needing special accommodations or have questions about the physical access provided, please contact the conference planner at 814-863-5100 at least two weeks prior to the conference.

Applications now being accepted for 2014 TU Youth Camp

The Cumberland Valley Chapter of Trout Unlimited is holding the 20th annual Rivers Conservation and Fly Fishing Youth Camp June 15 - 20, 2014, at the Allenberry Resort.

The Cumberland Valley Chapter of Trout Unlimited is holding the 20th annual Rivers Conservation and Fly Fishing Youth Camp June 15 - 20, 2014, at the Allenberry Resort in Boiling Springs, PA. The camp begins on a Sunday and ends the following Friday.

The highly structured curriculum is based on college level classes. Students are instructed in ecology, aquatic biology, geology, hydrogeology, erosion and sedimentation control, ichthyology, riparian corridor protection, watershed management, entomology, and much more. Students also participate in a hands-on stream habitat improvement project. But it's not all work. There are 10 fishing sessions and fly tying instruction. Over 30 instructors, all experts in their field, teach the various classes.

Admission will be limited to 32 selected qualified students, ages 14 to 17. The applicants must have been born between June 20, 1996, and June 15, 2000. The 32 students will be selected through an application process where they must state why they want to attend camp. The competition for admission is fierce.

The camp tuition is $350 per student for the entire week. All meals and accommodations are included for the residence camp. A student need not be an accomplished fly fisher or a budding aquatic biologist to attend. All the student needs is to be highly motivated and willing to learn.

The Rivers Conservation and Fly Fishing Youth Camp was founded in 1995 through the efforts of the late Dr. John R. "Jack" Beck and the late Enoch S. "Inky" Moore, Jr., Pennsylvania Fish Commissioner. Their goal was to select 32 teenagers each year who were the leaders in their class. The thought is that today's leaders in high school become the leaders of tomorrow's communities. In a few short years, they will be the bankers, lawyers, realtors, municipal officials and the leaders in their communities. If the camp can implant a kernel of knowledge in today's students about the importance of clean water, when those students become the decision makers in their communities, it may have a positive impact on how water resources are used.

The camp will begin accepting applications for the 2014 camp on November 1, 2013, and all applications must be postmarked no later than March 31, 2014. For a camp brochure, an application, or for more information, visit the camp website at www.riverscamp.com. Applications or questions may be submitted via US mail or via email to riverscamp@gmail.com.

TIC T-shirts now available for purchase

As a joint initiative by the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission (PFBC) and the Pennsylvania Council of Trout Unlimited (PATU), all proceeds from this fundraiser will be used

As a joint initiative by the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission (PFBC) and the Pennsylvania Council of Trout Unlimited (PATU), all proceeds from this fundraiser will be used to directly benefit the Trout in the Classroom (TIC) program, such as providing additional equipment to classrooms, funds for release days and field trips, educational materials, and more.

The T-shirt fundraiser is a great way to show your support for the TIC program statewide, which introduces coldwater conservation and education to thousands of students across Pennsylvania. To view the T-shirt, Click Here. To access and download the order form, Click Here.

The first T-shirt order will be submitted on September 27, 2013. Please send your orders to PATU by this date to receive your shirts by November, just as the TIC program begins heating up in the classroom (mailing information can be found on the T-shirt order form). The next order will be submitted November 22, 2013. PATU is accepting T-shirt orders on a continuous basis.

Since PFBC and PATU would like to promote this fundraiser to as many individuals as possible, please pass along this message and order form to your partnering teachers, students, program partners, parents, and anyone else in support of the TIC program. The order form can be printed and distributed to as many individuals as you would like.

Thank you for supporting Trout in the Classroom and helping us introduce coldwater conservation to students throughout the state.

ANNOUNCING THE
BRODHEAD CHAPTER TROUT

"BRING HOME THE BENJAMIN"

FLY TYING CONTEST

sponsored in part by SCOTT
CESARI'S FLY TYING

The Brodhead Chapter of Trout Unlimited is happy to announce its first annual fly tying contest, "Bring home the Benjamin," sponsored in part by Scott Cesari's Fly Tying. The contest is part of the chapter's ongoing effort to raise money for the various conservation and restoration projects currently being pursued and offers participants the chance to win one of three fabulous prizes valued at up to $100 dollars, including a first place prize of a $100 bill (e.g. – "a Benjamin!")

Contest rules:

1. Participants will be required to submit 3 flies (recipes for each fly are included with the entry form):
 - a. Royal Wulff
 - b. Bead Head Prince Nymph
 - c. Mickey Finn
2. Submissions can be made as follows:
 - a. Flies may be submitted directly to any Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited board member at any of the Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited functions
 - b. Flies may be mailed to Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited Fly Tying Contest c/o Scott Cesari's Fly Tying, 1986 Totts Gap Road, Bangor, PA, 18013
 - c. A $5.00 entry fee made payable to Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited must accompany all entries
 - d. March 7, 2014 is the deadline for entry submissions
 - e. All flies submitted become the property of Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited for use in various chapter activities
3. Flies will be judged by Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited board member Scott Cesari (2006 Pennsylvania State Fly Tying Champion and 2006 Federation of Fly Fishers World Champion.) Judging will be based on a point system that quantifies the pertinent characteristics of each fly. A rubric for the scoring system can be viewed on the Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited website or at www.scottcesariflytying.com.
4. Prizes
 - a. The contestant achieving the highest point value will be the first place winner and will receive a $100 bill cash prize (a "Benjamin.")
 - b. The contestant achieving the second highest point value will be the second place winner and will receive a set of fly tying materials valued at approximately $75
 - c. The contestant achieving the third highest point value will be the third place winner and will receive a $50 amazon.com gift card
 - d. In the event of a tie, final determination will be at the discretion of the judge
5. The winners of the contest will be announced at the March Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited general meeting. Participants need not be present to win. Winners will be notified by email or phone if not present. Prizes can be delivered to the contest winners or mailed if the winner lives outside of the Brodhead Chapter Trout Unlimited region.
6. Questions can be directed to Scott Cesari via email (smcesari@epix.net) or phone (610-730-7928.)

The contest is a winning situation for all involved. Your entry fees will go directly toward the conservation and management efforts supported by Trout Unlimited and you have an opportunity to hone your tying skills and win some great prizes in the process. We hope to see your flies soon, and thank you for supporting our efforts!

THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF JAMES LEISENRING – MORE THAN JUST FLIES...

For this month's chapter of my Pocono Patterns research, I'm going to present the contributions offered by Jim Leisenring. Leisenring lived in Allentown, Pennsylvania in the early to mid 1900's and fished the Analomink section of the Brodhead Creek, where many of his flies were tied and tried. Of all the research I've done on this project, I think the information I uncovered about Jim's flies and his contribution to fly tying and fly fishing have proven to be the most interesting. Leisenring developed a class of flies, the flymphs, versus a particular fly, and he contributed to the fly tier's arsenal of tying techniques as well by introducing the dubbing loop technique. The evolution of his work can arguably be traced back to the very first English writings on fly fishing. For the full details of Jim's contributions, visit the Pocono Patterns page on my website at www.scottcesariflytying.com and follow the links to “Chapter 4 – The Contributions of Jim Leisenring – More Than Just Flies.” It’s a fascinating snapshot of Pocono angling history, well worth the read. As Jim is primarily known for his flymph patterns, it is the flymph that I have chosen for this month’s FOTM.

TYING THE OLIVE FLYMPH

As the flymph is a classification of fly versus a specific pattern, the steps below illustrate how to tie this type of fly. The flymph is designed to imitate the emerging adult, somewhere between the nymph and the adult stage, as it is rising to the surface. Insects in such a stage are vulnerable and more apt to be taken by trout. Note that the dubbing and hackle can be varied in color and consistency to produce specific results to better match the insects of the water you are fishing. Ribbing and tags can be added as well, but not a wing case. Part of Jim’s philosophy is that the flymph is tied “in the round,” that is to say, without any features that would identify a top or bottom to the fly. As such, his flies could drift in the water current without appearing to be in an unnatural, or upside down, position, which Jim believed might spook wary fish since naturals rarely drift upside down. For instructional purposes, I have chosen to tie an olive flymph for the FOTM, which would represent an emerging blue winged olive.

Step 1

Start the thread on the hook and create a small thread base just behind the eye. Strip the fluff from the butt end of a hen neck hackle and tie this in on top of the hook with the feather facing forward, over the eye of the hook.

Step 2

Wind the thread in touching turns to the bend of the hook and tie in a tail of soft hackle barbs. The tail should be short, approximately the length of the shank of the hook. Then tie in one of the previously made dubbing loops (see sidebar), also at the bend of the hook. Return the thread to just behind the eye.

Step 3

Wrap the dubbing loop up the shank to create the body and thorax of the fly. Your initial wraps can be more widely spaced to yield a sparsely dubbed body which allows the color of the tying thread to show through, creating a more realistic two-toned appearance to the body of the fly. Wraps can be applied closer together in the thorax area to yield a more natural profile. Tie the dubbing loop off just behind the eye and trim the excess. Now wrap your thread back through the dubbing to near the midpoint of the shank. Do this in one very open turn of thread if possible so as not to compress the dubbing in the thorax region too much.

Step 4

Grasp the hen neck feather by the tip (use hackle pliers if needed) and make three to five wraps of hackle from the eye back to the midpoint of the shank where you left your thread hanging. Your first two turns of hackle should be very close together, almost touching, with subsequent wraps being spaced progressively further apart to create the correct density of hackle. Tie the tip of the hackle off with one or two wraps of thread, trim the excess, and then work the thread in a few open turns back through the hackle fibers to the eye of the hook. Wiggling your thread back and forth as you make these wraps will minimize the number of barbs you trap during this process. Create a small thread head in front of the hackle and tie off with a whip finish. Apply a drop of head cement and your flymph is ready to fish!

SIDEBAR – THE DUBBING LOOP, LEISENRING-STYLE

Jim Leisenring introduced the dubbing loop technique. At least, I did not find any references pre-dating Leisenring's use of it during my research. The technique has evolved, and the dubbing loop used today is not quite the same as that introduced by Leisenring. He created his loop off the hook by applying a generous coat of dubbing wax to a piece of silk (or tying thread) and resting the silk on the top of his thigh such that one half of the silk was on his thigh and the other half was hanging down over the front of his knee. He then covered the silk on his thigh with small wisps of dubbing. Leisenring applied his dubbing sparingly as he felt it was desirable for some of the thread to show through the body of the fly to create a two-toned, more realistic effect. He secured the length of silk on his thigh at one end with his thumb and at the other end with one finger. He then took the end of the thread hanging off the front of his knee with his opposite hand and folded it back on itself, slipping it beneath his thumb and finger without losing tension, effectively trapping the dubbing between the two halves of thread. By grabbing the ends and spinning them in opposite directions, he created a rope of dubbing, the original dubbing loop. Leisenring stored these dubbing loops for future use on celluloid automotive curtain cards with notches cut in each end to hold the loops securely. A 3 x 3 inch piece of mat board with notches cut in each end works just as well for the contemporary tier.

Remember, if you have any comments, questions, or additional information to add to the story, please leave a post on the Pocono Patterns discussion board on my website, contact me directly at smce-sari@epix.net, or give me a call at 610-730-7928. Next month I'll cover chapter 6 of my research project, which details 11 flies described in the 1960 Book "The Fisherman's Handbook of Trout Flies," written by Don Dubois, that are named after specific regions in the Poconos. Until next time...

PA Waters Announced for 2014

Mentored Youth Fishing Days

HARRISBURG, Pa. (Dec. 18) – The Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission (PFBC) today unveiled the waters which will be included in the 2014 statewide expansion of the popular Mentored Youth Fishing Day program.

“Think of this as a holiday gift for kids,” said PFBC Executive Director John Arway. “The pilot program last year was such a huge hit with anglers and their friends and family that we decided to expand the program statewide in 2014. Adult anglers from across the state now will have a special day to fish with the children in their lives in advance of the traditional opening day of trout season.”

The Mentored Youth Fishing Day pilot was launched in 2013 on the Saturday preceding the regional opening day of trout season and was immediately popular with adult anglers and the kids in their lives. More than 3,700 adult anglers registered 5,110 kids for the fishing opportunity.

“We expect to see an even higher level of involvement and enthusiasm this year since anglers have been sharing their stories about the great time they had in the pilot program,” added Arway.

In our area, Mentored Youth Fishing Day will be held on 29 waters on April 5, the weekend before the traditional opening day of trout season.

Local waters include: Monroe - Hidden Lake and Pike - Lily Pond

To participate in the program, adult anglers (16 years of age or older) must possess a valid fishing license and trout/salmon permit and be accompanied by a youth. Youth anglers must obtain a free PFBC-issued permit, which will be available beginning Feb. 1, 2014, at www.GoneFishingPA.com or at any of the more than 900 licensing agents across the state.

A survey of participants in the pilot program found that 89 percent of the registered youth fished that day; a majority of mentors were family members; and more than 80 percent of the mentors said they were satisfied with the experience. All total, the kids and their mentors fished 7,727 hours and reported releasing 4,405 trout and harvesting 1,183. Nearly 80 percent of the mentors said they usually fish the opening day of trout season. However, more than one-third of respondents said that they do not typically take youth out on opening day.

For more information about the Mentored Youth program, visit www.GoneFishingPA.com.

CAREFREE AND CONVENIENT FISHING AT YOUR FINGERTIPS!

Three-year and five-year fishing licenses continue to be available for resident and non-resident anglers. No more remembering at the last minute to buy a license before opening day or before that fishing opportunity with friends and family. In addition, each multi-year license buyer is eligible to receive rewards, including a free subscription to the digital version of Pennsylvania Angler & Boater magazine.

For more information and to purchase a multi-year fishing license, visit www.GoneFishingPa.com.

SINGLE YEAR PERMITS ARE NOW AVAILABLE FOR MULTI-YEAR LICENSE HOLDERS

Single-year permits are now available for those who bought a multi-year fishing license but did not buy a multi-year Trout-Salmon, Lake Erie or Combination Trout-Salmon/Lake Erie Permit. These single-year permits are available through the Commission's online store at www.GoneFishingPa.com.
